

A maintenance worker inspects a Metro carriage at 2am on May 5, 2017. Three groups — train maintenance, signal information maintenance and cleaners — work at the Meilong Base on Line 1 every day before 3:30am to get the lines and trains ready for service. — Jiang Xiaowei

1993-2023

On March 1, 2012, the tunnel for Phase 1 of Metro Line 13 was linked. Since May 28, 1993, when Metro Line 1 launched its trial operation, Shanghai Metro has expanded to 831 kilometers. — Zhang Suoqing

The Shanghai Metro reached a milestone on May 28, celebrating its 30th anniversary. It has changed the fabric of Shanghai's urban landscape, and its expansion has influenced where people reside and do business. Taking the Metro has already become an integral part of life for millions of residents and travelers. When we reflect on the past 30 years, we can see the remarkable accomplishments that Shanghai Daily's photographers have captured, highlighting the numerous ways in which the Metro has influenced our lives. So let us go back in time and celebrate the Metro's achievements while looking forward to a bright future. Congratulations, Shanghai Metro!